See Attachment C for “Statement of Qualified Protective Order.”

D. Individual's Right to Object:

1. An individual has the right to object to the release of his/her protected health information in response to a discovery request. In the absence of such a motion, HHSC will honor the discovery request, if it otherwise complies with this Policy.
2. Except as required by a court order, HHSC will not release protected health information when presented with written notification that a motion to quash or a motion for protective order has been filed with the court. Release will be held until HHSC receives satisfactory assurances from the party requesting the release that all objections have been resolved by the court or administrative tribunal and release of the protected health information is consistent with such resolution.
